Pittsburgh, Pa., Feb. 2, 1910.
Mr. E. W. Murphy, No. 105 Hudson Street, York, Pa.:
Dear Sir,—In reply to your recent favor of the 31st ult., regarding the Martin Delivery Wagon, would say we have used one of these wagons since the latter part of last October, running some about eighteen hundred (1800) miles since that date.
It has given us no trouble and is perfectly satisfactory. We are particularly well pleased with the way the wagon took the hills of this city when loaded; in fact, it appears to run better when it has a medium load on than when it is light. The engine is simple and powerful, and it runs quietly. There are a number of commercial wagons in Pittsburgh of other makes, but we have not seen any to date that pleases us as well as the Martin. It is perfectly satisfactory in every way.
Yours truly,
L. GLESENKAMP, SONS & CO.

THEORY EXPLODED

Colored Underclothing of No Service in Repelling Heat.
Washington, May 24.—Fantastic theories regarding the use of colored underclothing to repel the heat in the tropics have been dispelled by a report made by the army board for the study of tropical diseases in the Philippines. About eighteen months ago 5,000 suits of orange-red underclothes and a corresponding number of orange-red hat bands were sent to the Philippines. These were distributed so that one-half of the company should be clad in the new garments and the other in the ordinary white underclothes. The army surgeons kept closest watch upon the men, but they failed to find that the colored underclothes brought any relief from the tropical heat, although British army officers in India had reported that such clothing was much more comfortable in hot weather than the white. The medical board found that the colored underclothing, which, by the way, was unpopular, added materially to the burden of heat upon the system, which is a great cause of tropical deterioration. It is admitted that the orange-red is a protective against the chemical rays of the sun, but the same result is secured by the khaki and the tan-colored campaign hat of the American soldier.

The experiments were conducted with the greatest care, frequent records being made of blood pressure, of loss of weight and of general condition. The results were the same in the case of either the white skin of the American or the brown skin of the Philippine.

LIFE'S SAVINGS GONE

Burglars Enter Home and Steal Fortune in Jewels.
Newark, May 24.—While Samuel Voget and his wife, of Newark, N. J., slept soundly, burglars entered their home early yesterday and stole a handbag containing jewelry worth $10,000 from under the pillow beneath Mrs. Voget's head and $800 in cash from her husband's pockets. The pair did not discover their loss until they awoke. Voget, who is a middle-aged shopkeeper, had put the savings of a lifetime into diamonds.
HUDSON'S RESIGNATION FOLLOWED BY CHANGES
Knoxville, Tenn., May 24.—Following the resignation of W. R. Hudson, general superintendent of the western district of the Southern Railway Company, to become general superintendent of the Norfolk and Southern, the following changes will take effect June 1: C. L. Harris, general superintendent of the St. Louis-Louisville lines of the Southern, will go to Birmingham to succeed Mr. Hudson; B. G. Fallis, superintendent of the Greenville, S. C., division, will succeed Mr. Harris; Superintendent Hungerford, of the Greensboro, N. C., division, will be transferred to Greenville, while D. A. Shelton, train master at Greensboro, is promoted to superintendent of that division.

FINAL GAME AT ORANGE.

Woodberry Defeated by Episcopal High School, 9 to 1.
[Special to The Times-Dispatch.]
Orange, Va., May 24.—The Episcopal High School took the last game of the series and of the season from Woodberry Forest here yesterday before a large crowd, by the score of 9 to 1. The game was characterized by heavy hitting by the High School and the steady, consistent pitching of Wood. The Episcopal High School started off with a jump, and kept up the pace. Woodberry had men on bases, but was unsteady at critical moments, which fact, together with their inability to find Wood, cost them the game.
Score:
High School..... 9 10 2
Woodberry Forest..... 1 3 3
Batteries: Woodberry, Chambers, Sacy and Hyslop; High School, Wood and Green.
